6. Independent Contractor. In the performance of the work hereunder, Contractor shall be an independent contractor and not an employee of Cornell. Contractor is not an agent of, or authorized to transact business, enter into agreements, or otherwise make commitments on behalf of Cornell unless expressly authorized in writing by an officer of Cornell. Cornell will not pay or withhold federal, state, or local income tax or other payroll tax of any kind on behalf of Contractor or its employees. Contractor is not eligible for, not entitled to, and shall not participate in any of Cornell's pension, health, or other benefit plans. Contractor is responsible for the payment of all required payroll taxes, whether federal, state, or local in nature, including, but not limited to income taxes, Social Security taxes, Federal Unemployment Compensation taxes, and any other fees, charges, licenses, or payments required by law. 8. Rights and License in and to Cornell Data. Cornell shall own all data, information, and other work product developed or obtained by Contractor pursuant to this Agreement. Cornell shall at all times have access to review the ongoing work of Contractor for purposes of inspecting same and determining that work is being performed in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. Immediately upon termination of this Agreement for any reason, all such data, information, and other work, in whatever form, shall be turned over to Cornell.

The parties agree that as between them, all rights including all intellectual property rights in and to data and information provided by Cornell or on behalf of Cornell or created by Contractor in the performance of services hereunder shall remain the exclusive property of Cornell. Contractor has a limited, nonexclusive license to use such data and information solely for the purpose of performing its obligations under this Agreement. This Agreement does not give Contractor any rights, implied or otherwise, data, information, or intellectual property, except as expressly stated in this Agreement.

For purposes of this Agreement any copyrightable work ("Work") developed in the course of performance by Contractor under this Agreement shall be deemed "work made for hire" under federal copyright law and all ownership rights to such work shall belong to Cornell. Should such Work not constitute a "work made for hire" under copyright law, Contractor hereby grants, transfers, assigns, and conveys to Cornell and its successors and assigns, the entire right, title, and interest in the Work or any part thereof, including but not limited to the right to reproduce, prepare derivative works, distribute by sale, license or other transfer; to perform publicly, to display and to secure copyrights renewals, reissues, and extensions of any such copyrights or patents in the United States of America or any foreign country.

Any patentable invention conceived or reduced to practice in the course of performance under this Agreement shall be the property of Cornell. Cornell has the right to secure patents, reissues and extensions of thereof in the United States of America or any foreign country.

Whether a copyright or patent in the Work will be maintained or registered in the United States of America or any foreign country shall be at the sole discretion of Cornell.

9. Warranties. Contractor warrants and represents that services provided hereunder will not infringe, individually or collectively, any patent, copyright, trade secret, or other proprietary right of any third party; and Contractor has no reason to believe that any patent, copyright, trade secret, or other proprietary right of any third party may be infringed.

10. Data Privacy. Performance of services under this Agreement may entail the disclosure to Contractor of personally identifiable information from student education records protected by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) ("Student Information"). Contractor acknowledges that for the purposes of this Agreement, it will be designated as a "school official" with "legitimate educational interests" in the Student Information, as those terms have been defined under FERPA and its implementing regulations, and Contractor agrees to abide by the limitations and requirements imposed by 34 CFR 99.33(a) on school officials. Contractor will use Student Information only for the specific purpose of fulfilling its obligations under this Agreement. Contractor may not disclose student information to or share any Student Information with any other party or for any other purpose without the prior written consent of the student. By way of illustration and not of limitation, Contractor will not use such information for Contractor's own benefit or engage in "data mining" of Cornell Data or communications, whether through automated or human means, except as necessary to fulfill its specific obligations under this Agreement. The provisions of this section will be applicable to any subcontractors or agents to whom Contractor may release Student Information in order to perform services under this Agreement. Contractor agrees that prior to releasing any Student Information to any subcontractor or agent, Contractor will require such subcontractor or agent to acknowledge its obligations as a "university official" and to agree to comply with the FERPA requirements articulated in this section. Improper re-disclosure of Student Information can result in Contractor being denied access to such information for at least 5 years. Contractor shall return or certify destruction of all Student Information (including that provided to or obtained by its subcontractors or agents) upon termination of this Agreement.

Contractor will provide access to Cornell Data only to those Contractor employees, subcontractors and agents who need to access the data to fulfill Contractor's obligations under this Agreement.

11. Data Security. All facilities and other resources used to store and/or process Cornell Data will employ reasonable and appropriate administrative, physical, and technical safeguards, to secure such data from unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, and use. Such measures will be no less protective than those used to secure Contractor's own data of a similar type, and in no event less than reasonable in view of the type and nature of the data involved.

Contractor will use industry-standard and up-to-date security tools and technologies such as anti-virus protections and intrusion detection methods in providing services under this Agreement. Contractor will update its tools and technologies during the course of the Agreement as industry standards change and updated tools and technologies become available.

Contractor will ensure that its employees, subcontractors and agents who perform work under this Agreement receive appropriate instruction as to how to protect data consistent with the provisions of this Agreement. Contractor will perform background checks on all personnel who have potential to access Cornell Data. Background checks will be performed in accordance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act and will, at a minimum, include Social Security Number validation and trace or foreign equivalent, seven (7) year felony and misdemeanor criminal records of federal, state, or local courts, Office of Foreign Assets Control List (OFAC), Bureau of Industry and Security List (BIS) and Office of Defense Trade Controls Debarred Persons List (DDTC).

12. Access to Data Response to Legal Demands or Requests for Data. Cornell shall have the right, at all times during the term of the Agreement for any reason whatsoever in Cornell's sole discretion, to access, copy and/or remove any and all Cornell data and information from Contractor. In addition, in connection with Cornell's response to an e-discovery request or other legal proceeding, governmental request, or other a claim or demand upon receipt of written request from Cornell, Contractor will provide Cornell with any existing logs or other Cornell data and information.

If Contractor files a petition seeking to take advantage of any law relating to the bankruptcy or insolvency or is adjudicated to be bankrupt, or is the subject of a petition seeking liquidation, reorganization, winding-up, dissolution or adjustment of indebtedness, or if becomes insolvent or makes an assignment for the benefit of creditors or if a receiver is appointed, Contractor will return in a readily usable format, remove, or destroy, as directed by Cornell, all Cornell data and information.

Upon receipt of valid legal process (the "Legal Request") seeking Cornell-related data or information, Contractor will attempt to redirect the requesting third party to Cornell and/or request that the third party notify Cornell of its Legal Request. If Contractor's redirecting efforts are unsuccessful, and provided Contractor is not prohibited by law from doing so, Contractor will provide commercially reasonable notice to Cornell of the Legal Request, prior to disclosure of any Cornell Data, which would include, to the extent permitted by law, a copy of the Legal Request received by Contractor from the third party. Contractor will thereafter respond to the Legal Request in the time permitted unless Cornell has taken appropriate legal steps (i.e., Motion to Quash or Motion for a Protective Order) to stop or limit Contractor's response.

With respect to any legal process served on Cornell for which Cornell intends to respond, Contractor will provide Cornell with access to any Cornell Data in Contractor's possession together with any necessary encryption keys. If Cornell is unable to access Cornell Data using the tools and documentation provided by Contractor, then, upon request, Contractor will provide commercially reasonable assistance to enable Cornell to obtain the Cornell Data.

13. Security Incident Response. Upon becoming aware of any unauthorized access to any Cornell Data stored on Contractor's equipment or in Contractor's facilities, or unauthorized access to such equipment or facilities reasonably expected to result in loss, disclosure, or alteration of Cornell Data (each a "Security Incident"), Contractor will: (1) promptly notify Cornell at security@cornell.edu of the Security Incident; (2) investigate the Security Incident and provide Cornell with detailed information about the Security Incident; (3) take reasonable steps to mitigate the effects and to minimize any damage resulting from the Security Incident; (4) take prompt and appropriate corrective action aimed at preventing the reoccurrence of a similar Security Incident in the future; and (5) hold Cornell harmless from any costs associated with a data breach attributable to the actions or inactions of Contractor.

14. Data Transfer Upon Termination or Expiration. Upon expiration or termination of Services, Contractor will deliver to Cornell all work performed under this Agreement and return to Cornell in a readily usable format, remove, or securely delete or destroy, as directed by Cornell, all Cornell Data.

15. Termination. Cornell may terminate this Agreement at any time without cause, upon written notice to Consultant/Contractor or immediately for non-performance. Consultant/Contractor shall be entitled to payment for work performed to the satisfaction of Cornell prior to termination, but explicitly waives any right to additional or other amounts of any kind, including based on quantum meruit or other similar theory. Personnel identified by Cornell as deficient will be removed in a manner to least affect the progress of the project. The obligations imposed by Sections 7 and 8 of this Agreement as well as any licenses granted hereunder shall survive termination under this Agreement.

16. Indemnification. Contractor shall defend, indemnify, and hold harmless Cornell and its trustees, officers, agents, and employees from all suits, actions, or claims of any character, name, or description, including reasonable attorneys' fees and litigation expenses, brought on account of any injuries, damage or loss (real or alleged) sustained by any person or persons arising out of (1) negligent acts or omissions of Consultant, its employees, subcontractors or agents, including, but not limited to any claims for personal injury, including any injuries or damages sustained by Contractors' employees, property damage, or infringement of copyright, patent, or other proprietary rights; or (2) any other claims of any nature whatsoever arising out of the Contractor's performance of the services to be provided pursuant to this Agreement, or Contractor's failure to perform or comply with any requirements of this Agreement, including specifically but not limited to employment-related claims arising under the common law or based upon any federal, state, or local statutes, ordinances, or regulations.

17. Insurance. Contractor will carry insurance as provided herein. Cornell requires that contractors submit evidence of adequate insurance prior to commencement of performance of work for Cornell. Satisfaction of the minimum insurance requirements does not necessarily mean that a Contractor's insurance will be acceptable to Cornell's Office of Risk Management and Insurance. A certificate of insurance for all policies required must be issued to Cornell University as the Certificate Holder and received by Procurement Services prior to any work commencing under any contract subject to these requirements. All certificates of insurance must provide for a minimum of 30 days notice to Cornell prior to the cancellation of, non-renewal of, or a change in policy terms and/or conditions. Contractor shall ensure that new certificates of insurance will be automatically sent upon expiration of any coverage period.

All Commercial general liability policies should be issued on an "occurrence" basis.

Completed Operations coverage is to be maintained for a minimum period of two years after the completion of the Agreement.

The insurance shall be considered to be primary and non-contributory to other insurance or self-insurance maintained by Cornell University for allegations of negligence for the acts or performance of the Contractor in fulfilling the services hereunder. These minimum requirements shall not limit the liability or responsibility of the Contractor. Cornell's failure to enforce the requirements shall not be considered to be a waiver of the requirement. Any changes to these requirements shall only be made in writing and agreed upon by all parties.

Contractor grants Cornell permission to view and/or copy any books, documents, records, data and information (including data and information stored in electronic form) of Contractor which relate to or have been used in connection with the performance of this Agreement. Contractor also grants Cornell permission to interview Contractor's staff and agents as part of the audit.
