Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct

POLICY STATEMENT

Cornell University is committed to providing a safe, inclusive, and respectful learning, living, and working environment for its students, faculty, and staff members. To this end, through this policy, the university provides means to address bias, discrimination, harassment, and sexual and related misconduct.

REASON FOR POLICY

This policy furthers the university’s commitment to creating a learning, living, and working environment free of bias, discrimination, harassment, and sexual and related misconduct, and to meeting applicable legal requirements. This policy, its accompanying procedures, and other mechanisms delineated in the policy set forth the university’s standards of conduct. They also set forth the university’s processes governing questions, concerns, and reports of bias, discrimination, harassment, and sexual and related misconduct, and investigations and resolutions of claims of prohibited conduct.

POLICY 6.4
Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct

PRINCIPLES

Overview

The university is committed to preventing, responding to, and remedying the effects of bias, discrimination, harassment, and sexual and related misconduct. The university is also committed to providing prompt, fair, and impartial processes for all parties when such prohibited conduct is alleged. In tandem with this policy, to comply with applicable laws, and as a crucial part of its effort to prevent prohibited conduct, the university provides educational, preventative, and training programs for the Cornell community.

Process Privacy in Applicable Procedures Under this Policy

To ensure the integrity of this policy and its applicable procedures (see Procedures in this document), and to encourage parties and witnesses to participate in matters under this policy, the university recognizes that participants should be protected from unreasonable disclosure of their involvement in processes under any of the applicable procedures, and of any information they reveal during their participation. However, the university also recognizes that there are legal mandates that govern disclosure and afford participants certain rights to disclose information related to matters under this policy.

Accordingly, the university seeks to balance these competing interests by encouraging parties not to reveal any information they learn in the course of their participation in processes set forth in the applicable procedures, other than for the purpose of consulting with advisors and attorneys, and incidental to seeking support and advice from family, clergy, health professionals, and others playing a similar role. Parties are also encouraged to request that any advisors, attorneys, and support persons they consult keep information related to matters under this policy private.

Parties may choose whether to disclose or discuss with others the outcome of a complaint under this policy.

The university prohibits students from distributing documents obtained in the course of their participation in matters under this policy’s Procedures for Resolution of Reports Against Students, including, but not limited to, the complaint, interview transcripts, and the investigative record and report, other than for the purpose of consulting with an advisor; incidental to seeking support and advice from family, clergy, health professionals, and others playing a similar role; or as part of a civil, criminal, or administrative legal proceeding.
POLICY 6.4

PRINCIPLES, continued

As appropriate, in a given case, a university official, such as the Title IX Coordinator, may issue an order restricting the parties from disclosing specific information. Members of the Cornell community who fail to follow an order of a university official may be found to have violated Cornell University’s Campus Code of Conduct. Additionally, sharing private information in a manner that harms another individual may constitute retaliation prohibited under this policy. (Retaliation is defined in the applicable procedures and may result in disciplinary action.)

The university will provide other participants, such as witnesses and hearing and appeal panel members, with instructions about respecting and safeguarding private information. Such persons are obliged to comply with the university’s rules regarding privacy.

The university will take reasonable measures to protect the privacy of proceedings and records; however, the university cannot and does not guarantee that privacy will be maintained. Privacy does not mean that the university is constrained from divulging facts of proceedings in appropriate circumstances. Additionally, the university may publicly divulge details of an outcome if one of the parties discloses selective portions of the proceedings, or if the matter is involved in litigation.

Retaliation and Bad Faith Complaints

Local, state, and federal laws prohibit any form of retaliation against a person based on that person’s participation in any matters under this policy or that person’s opposition to protected-status discrimination or harassment. This policy also prohibits retaliation, as defined in the applicable procedures.

At the same time, an individual who believes that they are aggrieved because a complaint under this policy is malicious, knowingly false, or fundamentally frivolous, may invoke the Campus Code of Conduct or any applicable grievance procedure under this policy. A party who brings such a bad faith complaint may be found to have violated this policy’s prohibition against retaliation.
POLICY 6.4
Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct

Introduction

There are several distinct procedures and other mechanisms for reporting, investigating, and resolving matters under this policy, with each process designed to correspond best with different types of conduct and the university’s different constituencies. (See the tables below.) In any given case, the applicable process depends upon both the conduct alleged and the respondent’s relationship with the university (student, faculty member, staff member, or third party).

◆ Note: A person against whom a report or formal complaint of prohibited conduct has been made is designated as the “respondent.” A person who is the subject of such a report or initiates a formal complaint of prohibited conduct is designated as the “complainant.”

Choose the set of procedures below that corresponds to the conduct and respondent (a) for which you have a question or concern, would like to make a report, or initiate a formal complaint, or (b) against whom such a report or formal complaint has been made.

REPORTING OPTIONS, SEEKING ADVICE, AND RESOURCES

Campus Reporting Options
The university encourages all members of the Cornell community who believe that they have experienced misconduct under this policy or become aware of alleged misconduct to report the incident immediately to the university through the appropriate reporting option listed in the tables in Procedures in this document.

Faculty and Staff Duty to Consult on Potential Sexual and Related Misconduct Involving Students
Cornell faculty and staff members, with the exception of important Confidential Resources for Support, discussed below, are required to consult with the Title IX Coordinator or a Deputy Title IX Coordinator when they become aware of an alleged incident of sexual and related misconduct under this policy, such as dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking, that involves a student as either the complainant or respondent. Thus, in cases of alleged sexual and related misconduct involving students, faculty and staff members may not make anonymous reports. Faculty and staff members should be prepared to share the name, date, time, location, and description of the incident (if known) with the Title IX Coordinator. Other than sharing such information with the Title IX Coordinator, faculty and staff members will maintain an individual’s privacy to the greatest extent possible.

When the Title IX Coordinator or a Deputy Title IX Coordinator receives a report of prohibited sexual or related misconduct, they will contact the complainant, if known, or another individual reporting the prohibited conduct to offer support services, including assistance with academic, housing, transportation, employment, and other reasonable and available accommodations.¹ The individual will also be advised of the option to pursue a formal complaint, if such an option is available.

Reporting to Law Enforcement
All individuals are urged to report immediately to law enforcement any conduct that may constitute a crime. An individual who believes they have experienced sexual or related misconduct prohibited under this policy may choose to report to the university and/or to law enforcement. An individual may pursue either, both, or ¹In this policy, various university officials, such as the Title IX Coordinator, are assigned responsibility for performing specific functions. Named officials are authorized to delegate responsibility to other appropriate university officials except where such delegation contravenes university policy. Additionally, named officials and their designees may consult with appropriate university officials, the Office of University Counsel, and subject-matter experts.

POLICY 6.4

Anonymous Reporting
With the exception of faculty and staff members who have a duty to consult, as discussed above, any individual who believes that they have experienced misconduct or becomes aware of alleged misconduct may make an anonymous report by using the online reporting form located at biasconcerns.cornell.edu.

Confidential Resources for Support
The university offers a number of confidential resources for individuals who are unsure whether to report misconduct or who seek counseling or other emotional support in addition to, or without, making a report to the university. For confidential support, one can seek assistance from the following:

- Cornell Health (medical and mental health providers, students only): (607) 255-5155

POLICY 6.4

- Cornell Health, FSAP, and CURW will not share with the university’s Title IX Coordinator or any other university officials any information disclosed to them in the course of providing medical and/or mental health services or pastoral counseling. These conversations may also be legally privileged in the event of a court proceeding.

- The victim advocate, directors of the WRC and LGBT Resource Center, and the ombudsman will not convey any personally identifiable information to the university Title IX Coordinator or any other university officials; however, they may share with the university Title IX Coordinator de-identified statistical or other information regarding prohibited conduct under this policy.

- The Advocacy Center is independent of Cornell and has no duty to consult with the university.

For confidential support resources other than those listed above, call the New York State Domestic and Sexual Violence hotline at (800) 942-6906.

Cornell’s Sexual Harassment and Assault Response and Education (SHARE) website (share.cornell.edu) provides information to the Cornell community about sexual and related misconduct, and offers information about the SHARE partners who provide services, support, reporting options, education, and advocacy.

Even those university officials who cannot guarantee confidentiality will maintain a person’s privacy to the greatest extent possible. When the information pertains to sexual or related misconduct, the information provided to a non-confidential resource will be relayed to the Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinator only as necessary for the Title IX Coordinator to investigate and seek resolution.
POLICY 6.4

Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR STUDENTS

Amnesty for Alcohol and Drug Use

◆ Note: The Amnesty for Alcohol or Drug Use is set forth in New York State Educational Law Article 129-B.

The health and safety of every student at the university is of utmost importance. The university recognizes that students who have been drinking and/or using drugs (whether such use is voluntary or involuntary) at the time that prohibited conduct under these procedures occurs may be hesitant to report incidents due to fear of potential consequences for their own conduct. The university strongly encourages students to report such prohibited conduct. A student bystander or complainant acting in good faith who discloses any incident of prohibited conduct under these procedures to a Cornell official or to law enforcement shall not be subject to action under the university’s Campus Code of Conduct for violation of alcohol and/or drug use occurring at or near the time of the commission of the prohibited conduct. While no disciplinary action will be taken, Cornell reserves the right to take steps necessary to address health and safety concerns for the individual and the community, as well as the right to report truthfully to licensing bodies.

New York State Student Bill of Rights

Prohibited Bias, Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual and Related Misconduct

APPENDIX A: QUESTIONS, CONCERNS, AND REPORTS OF DISCRIMINATION IN INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS: MEDIATION AND RESOLUTION PROCESSES

Individuals who have questions or concerns about, or wish to make a report of, discrimination in participation in intercollegiate athletics under Title IX should submit their inquiry or report to the associate director of athletics/senior woman administrator by mail at Teagle Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853 or via email to athletics@cornell.edu or TitleIX@cornell.edu.

The associate director of athletics/senior woman administrator will seek to resolve the matter. If unsuccessful, the following process applies:

Mediation Process

Upon the request of any person involved or alleged to be involved in a dispute, the Office of Workforce Policy and Labor Relations (WPLR) will offer to arrange a mediation of the dispute. Attempts at mediation may occur without an individual filing a written complaint or at any time after a written complaint has been filed.

Complaint Resolution Process

Upon receipt of a written complaint, WPLR will conduct an informal investigation, as follows:

1. WPLR will afford both the complainant and the respondent an opportunity to submit information and documentation regarding the complaint allegations.

2. The investigation will be completed with a written determination issued and forwarded by WPLR to the appropriate university official, if feasible within 45 working days of WPLR’s receipt of the complaint. The determination will contain the following information:
   a. A statement of the allegations under review.
   b. The position of the parties.
   c. A finding of facts resulting from the investigation.
   d. A recommendation of action(s), if any, to be taken by the appropriate university official. The factual findings contained in the

3. Based upon the determination issued by WPLR, the appropriate university official will decide what action is to be taken, if any. If the action differs from that recommended by WPLR, the university official will confer with WPLR before taking action.

4. The appropriate university official will notify the parties promptly, in writing, of the disposition of the complaint. In the event that discipline of an employee is to be undertaken or the decision involves other elements personal to the respondent or the complainant, information provided to the complainant and the respondent will be in accordance with university policies governing the disclosure of such information.

5. After receipt of the disposition, a party may appeal by submitting a written document to the vice president for student and campus life (VP SCL), 311 Day Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853, either postmarked by or received by the VP SCL within 14 calendar days of the date that the party received the disposition. A party is limited to challenging the determination by WPLR, not the disposition by the appropriate university official. If the appeal is successful, the VP SCL will then consider whether a change in the disposition is warranted. In the appeal, the party must specify with particularity the claimed errors, of either fact or law, in the WPLR determination and explain how such errors likely affected the determination. If the party fails to include such specifics, the appeal will not be considered. The VP SCL’s decision on the appeal will be final and not subject to further review. A written decision on the appeal will be forwarded to the parties, if feasible within 30 working days of the vice president’s receipt of the appeal.

6. Although the university will make every effort to comply with these timelines, circumstances such as school breaks, or other matters, may require an extension of time.
