Lactation Accommodation

POLICY STATEMENT

The university provides reasonable time away from work for lactating mothers in its employ to express breast milk, and makes reasonable efforts to provide a private room or other location in proximity to the work area for such activity.

REASON FOR POLICY

In compliance with federal, New York State, and New York City law, and in support of the institution’s work/life initiatives for working families, the university recognizes and respects the need to accommodate lactating mothers who choose to express breast milk during work time, without discrimination.

RESPONSIBILITIES, ITHACA-BASED LOCATIONS AND CORNELL TECH

The major responsibilities each party has in connection with this policy are as follows:

| Academic Staff Member Seeking Time Away From Work to Express Breast Milk | Refer to University Policy 6.2.1, Leaves for Professors and Academic Staff. |
| College/Unit Making Space Accommodations | Provide a private space in close proximity to the work area for individuals expressing breast milk, within five business days of receipt of the request. |
| Employee Seeking Accommodations | Contact supervisor or college/unit level human resource representative, in advance, to request time away from work accommodations. Review the university directory of lactation rooms and contact the identified room coordinator to obtain access to the desired room, in advance of needing access. Contact college/unit level human resource representative or Work/Life in Human Resources to request alternative or temporary private space accommodations, if a designated space is not within a reasonable distance. |
| Supervisor | Respond to requests for time away from work to express breast milk, in accordance with college/unit procedure. |
| Work/Life in Human Resources | Consult with individuals, supervisors, HR representatives, and facility leaders on the creation and maintenance of private spaces for lactation rooms and advise on time away from work regulations and best practices. |

POLICY 6.9
Lactation Accommodation

PRINCIPLES

Overview

The university provides reasonable time away from work for lactating mothers in its employ to express breast milk, and will make reasonable efforts to provide a private room or other location in proximity to the work area for such activity.

Eligible employees include all faculty, academic, and nonacademic staff, including regular, temporary, and casual staff, and student employees who may request lactation accommodations for the three years following the birth of a child.

◆ Note: This policy does not accommodate breastfeeding in the workplace.
POLICY 6.9
Lactation Accommodation

PROCEDURES, ITHACA-BASED LOCATIONS AND CORNELL TECH

Time Away From Work Accommodations

Unpaid break time, paid break time, or unpaid mealtime, as well as health and personal leave, vacation, or flexible scheduling can be used for this accommodation. Each break will generally be no less than twenty minutes, though employees may elect to take shorter breaks for this purpose. An employee may be required to postpone scheduled unpaid break time for no more than thirty minutes if she cannot be spared from her duties until appropriate coverage arrives. The time away needs of the employee may evolve in duration and frequency and must be revisited by the employee and the supervisor in accordance with the unit’s procedure for requesting time off.

Private Space Accommodations

The university has designated lactation rooms ("Mothers’ Rooms") - see “Related Resources” for directory. Employees are encouraged to use scheduling tools if available and identified on the directory. If demand exceeds availability of a room, a user may contact the college/unit level human resource representative or Work/Life in Human Resources to address needs.

When a lactation room does not exist in the building where the employee performs work, and nearby rooms will appreciably extend the amount of time needed away from work, reasonable attempts must be made to provide alternative temporary space.

A temporary space must meet the following criteria: sanitary (not a restroom), private (shielded from view and free from intrusion), well-lit through natural or artificial light, electrical outlet, chair, surface to rest the pump and other personal items, and nearby access to running water. The employee must be provided access to refrigeration suitable for breastmilk storage in reasonable proximity to the employee’s work area.

If the temporary room is used for multiple purposes, or the designated lactation room is used for non-lactation needs, employees needing to express breastmilk must be given priority access. When an employee is using the temporary room to express milk, the college/unit shall provide notice to other employees that the room is given preference for use as a lactation room.

Accommodation Process

To request time away from work and private space accommodations, a staff member must:

1. Request time off, in advance, from the staff member’s supervisor, in accordance with the unit’s procedure for requesting time away from work.
   a. The supervisor must respond in accordance with unit procedure and may contact the college/unit human resource representative or Work/Life in Human Resources to receive guidance.

2. Review the university directory of lactation rooms and contact the identified room coordinator to obtain access to the desired room, in advance of needing access.

3. Contact the college/unit human resource representative or Work/Life in Human Resources to request alternative or temporary private space accommodations if a designated space is not within a reasonable distance. Requests must be responded to within five business days.

4. As time away from work needs evolve, the employee and supervisor will work together to address scheduling changes in accordance with their unit’s procedure for requesting time away from work.

Academics

Academics seeking time away from work to express breast milk should refer to University Policy 6.2.1, Leaves for Professors and Academic Staff.
